TRAIN ROBBER GOT BETWEEN $200 AND $300 SAYS AGENTS.

Bloodhounds Started on the Trail of Bandit This Morning and His Arrest Is Expected Today.

ARREST OF SUSPECTS DENIED

General Agent of the Adams Express Company Says That Three Bags of Pennies Have Been Recovered and That the Messenger Opened Safe.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1.—M. D. Slater, general agent of the Adams Express Company, returning to Pittsburgh from Lewistown Narrows today, declared the company did not lose more than $200 or $300. Three bags of pennies, each containing $100 were recovered, he said. Two other bags were scattered along the mountain side.

He declared that the report that the robber dynamited the safe is not correct as it was opened with a key in the hands of the messenger, who was compelled to do so at the point of a revolver, held by the burglar. Mr. Slater declared that there must have been considerable firing as more than a dozen empty shells were found along the tracks.

Bloodhounds were started on the trail of the robber of the Pittsburgh and Northern express early today. His arrest is confidently expected by the officers during the day. The mask of the robber has been found. It was made of an old gunny sack and was given to the dogs to scent. There was a report current that 10 suspects had been arrested at Altoona but this is denied by the officers.

The robbery is regarded as one of the most daring of modern times and the police all over the country are amazed at it. Almost every sleuth in the country is endeavoring to speculate upon who the man is and opinions as to his being an expert differ widely.

ROBBED A SQUIRE IN THE COURT HOUSE

Henry C. Hubbs of Scottdale Relieved of Roll While Attending Court in Greensburg Yesterday.

SCOTSDALE, Sept. 1.—Justice of the Peace Henry C. Hubbs in pursuance of the business connected with his office attended the criminal court at Greensburg yesterday, and fell among thieves. He went to the Two-Million Dollar Court House, looked up at the gilded dome, then went to the richly furnished rooms occupied by the judges and listened to several cases he was interested in. While in one of the court rooms or in one of the marble trimmed corridors his purse was lifted from him. It contained $18. All the day there was the usual jam of people that are brought to court, and it was not until late in the evening that some of these thought they would do a day's work while attending court, and so fell upon the Justice of the Peace.

RINGGOLD CAVALRY.

Meeting in Annual Reunion at Bentleyville.

Veterans of one of the most famous of all Union mounted commands in the War of the Rebellion, the Ringgold Cavalry, convened this morning for sessions of two days at Bentleyville, near Monacauchela City, in annual reunion, the most picturesque of all meetings of Civil War veterans held as fixed events in this section.

About 180 soldiers, coming from many points beyond Washington country, where the regiment was famed as an independent organization twenty years before the war, will gather about the campfire of peace and receive tales of days when snobs dashed and carbines cracked, and the name of the Ringgold Cavalry was one feared throughout the North and Southland.

Business sessions, at which the roll call of companies was a pathetic feature, during the day and in the evening the campfire will revive memories of the deeds of military prowess achieved by the Ringgold Cavalry in scores of battles and hundreds of skirmishes between '61 and '65.

Admitted to the Cottage Hospital During August.

Miss Catherine Zeller superintendent of the Cottage State hospital, this morning gave out the following report for the month of August: Number of patients at beginning of the month, 11; admitted, 20; discharged, 16; remaining, 15; out patients treated, 9; return visits paid, 15. There were no deaths during the month.

DISCHARGES OLD DEBT.

Man Comes Far to Reimburse Indorsor of Note He Paid.

SOMERSET, Sept. 1.—"General, I have come a long distance to discharge an obligation I have owed you more than 40 years," said a stranger who appeared at the law office of General William H. Koontz. "You have probably forgotten my going to you shortly after we were mustered out of the army in 1865, and asking you to indorse a note for $40 at Schell & Treadwell's bank for me. When the note became due you paid it, and now I want to refund the money with interest."

General Koontz had forgotten both the circumstances and the name of his visitor.

OLD STAGE DRIVER DIES AT BROWNSVILLE

Peter M. Syphers, Well Known in Southern Fayette Passed Away Yesterday.

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 1.—Peter Montgomery Syphers, ex-stage driver, horseman and Civil War veteran, died at his home in South Brownsville yesterday at 12:45. His history was that of a local hero from the time that slackwater navigation extended only as far as Lock No. 6 at Rice's Landing. At that time Brownsville and Fayette county points were accessible by means of the steamboat lines and communication between these places and Pittsburgh was comparatively easy. Although the railroad did not enter Brownsville until a quarter of a century after Mr. Syphers was born, the steamboats afforded transportation sufficient for the needs of the times. But Waynesburg and other inland villages depended on the stage coach for mail and transportation and the position of stage driver was one to be aspired to.

To this business of stage driving Peter M. Syphers was born on November 9, 1844, at Waynesburg. He was the son of Thomas Syphers, who was a farmer and a horseman. He spent his boyhood in Greene county, often going from his home over the mountains to Cumberland with herds of horses to be disposed of there. During these trips he was a spectator of the immense traffic which moved in those days over the National Pike, and heard the first rumors of civil strife. When the Civil War began young Syphers enlisted in the 18th Pennsylvania Cavalry, being assigned to Company A. He served throughout the war, seeing active service under Sheridan and Grant. After peace was made Syphers returned to Waynesburg and began to drive the stage between that town and Rice's Landing. From Waynesburg to Rice's Landing by stage and from there by boat to Pittsburgh was the usual route used by people going from Greene county points, when Washington and Greene county were one. During the long periods of drought when the boats were laid up and when the river was closed with ice, Syphers would drive his four horse coach from Waynesburg to Pittsburgh direct. During this time Mr. Syphers married Margaret Sedgwick, of Rice's Landing. William Syphers, their son, now runs between Brownsville and Rice's Landing as captain of the Hazel Watson. Mrs. Syphers died shortly before Mr. Syphers moved to Brownsville. In 1896 he married Mrs. Emma Donahue of Carmichaels. On coming here Peter Syphers engaged in the lively business with which he was identified during the years spent here and in which he was interested at the time of his last illness. His death was caused by a chronic intestinal complaint and took place after a severe illness. Mrs. Syphers and the son, William Syphers, are the only relatives surviving. The funeral will take place at Howitt's Church, Rice's Landing, at 2 P. M. Friday. The interment will be at Rice's Landing.

COAL COMPANIES' SUIT.

Maryland Concern Would Collect $607 Promissory Note.

SOMERSET, Sept. 1.—The Midland Mining Company of Midland, Md., yesterday entered an action in assumpsit against the Fenwood Coal Company, operating at Rockwood, to recover $607, alleged to be due the plaintiff company on a promissory note given by the defendant, which has refused to pay the same.

Died From Injuries.

From injuries received in a fall a year ago, Mrs. John Call, aged 73, is dead at her home at Waynesburg. Her husband and one son survive.

NORTH POLE DISCOVERED BY DARING AMERICAN EXPLORER

Dr. Cook of Brooklyn Is Successful in the Search Which Has Lured Scores of Hardy Scientists Into the Northern Ice Fields.

United Press Telegram.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 1.—The North Pole has been discovered and by an American explorer. Dr. F. A. Cook of Brooklyn, N. Y., at the head of a private expedition, is said to have reached the pole on April 21, 1908, and since that time has been fighting his way back to civilization.

The Inspector of Greenland, reporting to the Danish government from Lørdik, Shetland, gave to the world the first news of the greatest discovery of modern times, one that has lured hundreds of daring explorers into the northern wilderness and which has claimed scores of lives as its toll.

Dr. Cook, it is said, was practically alone on his voyage to the pole, having had but one white man with him when he started. The men taken along when the expedition left America returned home more than a year ago. Cook made a flying trip across the ice packs with dogs and sleds, accompanied by a few Eskimos.

gent, unbiased, unprejudiced joint investigation conducted by men who are willing and determined to get all the facts.

Another effort will be made with other international representatives of the organization and to solve the controversy. As the district officers have failed to cooperate with us in solving this problem, I do not feel obligated to consult them any further in our efforts to protect the interests of the mine workers and re-establish amicable relations between the operators and mine workers of this district.

Will not Marry Her as They are Merely Soul Mates, He Explains.

IS SISTER OF NEWSPAPER MAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Ferdinand Planey Earle, the artist affluence, has found another affinity. This time it is Miss Gertrude Buell Dunn, an aspiring literary genius and settlement worker. The announcement of Earle's second plunge into the "affinity pool" has caused a profound sensation, especially since the latest "soul mate" is even more prominent than the first one, Miss Julia Katter-Earle, who has not, as yet, secured a divorce from her erratic husband.

Should Earle's second wife, the former Miss Kutter, secure a divorce, Earle will not marry again as he has passed the word broadcast that he and Miss Dunn are merely "soul mates."

Earle and his latest "affinity" are now in Europe. Miss Dunn is the sister of the city editor of a big Chicago newspaper. Friends of Earle say he and Miss Dunn will not marry but will continue as soul mates.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Ballard Dunn, the local newspaper man, today declared the story that his sister had eloped with Earle to be wholly without foundation. He says that his sister had met Earle but that they are merely friends. He said he had a letter from his sister, who is in Paris, saying that she is alone.

SPECIAL MEETING

Of Council Will Probably Be Held Friday Evening.

A special meeting of Town Council will likely be called for Friday evening for the purpose of paying bills. It is understood that President Clair Stillwagon expects to be away from town next Monday, the date for the regular meeting, and an earlier session will be called to permit the President to carry out his plans.

Clerk Bixler this morning stated that it would be hardly likely that other than the payment of bills and routine business would be taken up.

COMPANY MUST PAY.

Burgess Evans Refuses to Allow Wilson Company to Tear Up Street.

Until the A. & S. Wilson Company has paid its assessment for the paving of North Pittsburg street along the Second National Bank building it can get no permit to tear up the street and make necessary repairs to the building.

There is a leak in the building which must be remedied but Burgess Evans has decided that this cannot be taken up until the claim of the borough for the new paving is settled.

Abandon Waiting Room.

Their lease having expired to the Uniontown waiting room, it is reported that the West Penn may purchase ground and erect a room of its own in the county seat, although this is hardly likely. The "loop" story is also being revived in Uniontown.

Wants a Charter.

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 1.—The First Hungarian Presbyterian Sick Benefit Society has applied for a charter. It holds from Bellefonte.

REGISTRATION DAY.

All voters must register to qualify as electors at the general election to be held November 2. Today will be the last day for this, as 60 days must intervene. Registration for the election will be held on the day of the election for the fall election.

Today also is the last day on which voters can be assessed for the purpose of paying taxes on property. If it is determined that the State or County tax in time to qualify for the November election, tax receipt dated prior to November 2, 1909, will not qualify a voter at the November election. Every voter should examine his tax receipt. If it is dated prior to November 2, 1909, he should make immediate inquiry to see whether his name appears on the assessment books. If he has been assessed by the ward assessors he can be assessed by the assessors at the polling place. Assessors will be at the polling places for that purpose all day tomorrow. After that date he cannot be assessed and he will lose his vote at the November election.

All young men who voted on any last fall or last spring must have a tax receipt to vote in November. Many new voters are overlooked by ward assessors and all who cast their first vote on any last fall or last spring must have a tax receipt to vote in November. Many new voters are overlooked by ward assessors and all who cast their first vote on any last fall or last spring must have a tax receipt to vote in November.

State and county officers will be elected to November 2 and in addition several Constitutional Amendments will be submitted to the people, chief among which will be one abolishing spring elections and providing for but one election each year. The amendments may be found in full in The Weekly Courier.

FEENAN IGNORED BY PRESIDENT LEWIS.

National Organization Will Try to Settle Explosive Dispute.

CONFERENCE IS UNSUCCESSFUL

Declares That the District Officers Are Unwilling to Act Fairly in Trouble Which Has Thrown Thousands Out of Work.

It is understood that Lewis and the board of operators will hold another conference today to agree upon a committee to study the questions at issue. Feenan and the district leaders will likely call a special district convention of the miners of the Pittsburgh district for next Tuesday. President Lewis' statement follows:

The conference of operators and miners of the Pittsburgh district, held in Pittsburgh for two days, adjourned this morning without accomplishing any result. The purpose of the conference was to settle the questions at issue. The operators and miners were unable to agree upon a committee to study the questions at issue. VIOLATED MINE LAWS.

United Coal Company Employee Had Naked Lamp.

SOMERSET, Sept. 1.—Joseph Steno, a miner employed in the United Coal Company's workings at Boswell, yesterday pleaded guilty to violating the mining laws of the State by carrying an open lamp. He was sentenced by Judge Kooser to pay the costs of prosecution, amounting to about $18, a fine of $6, and serve five days in the county jail. Steno was arrested by Constable Edward Arisman of Boswell, and had been imprisoned about a week before entering a plea of guilty.

to 1 and 8 to 5, but for the life of them, even the players didn't know which side won. The car shops employed claimed to have trimmed the motormen and conductors, but this claim is denied. Uniontown trounced the Iron Bridge crews. It is claimed:
The obstacle race was the banner event of the day. There were six contestants, W. E. Shaw, Al Durie, Hornbeck, D. R. Truder, O. E. Keener and Billy Alter. Shaw won, but by a close margin. Truder and Alter being close behind and Keener not in the luck, either. Purlie and Hornbeck led the field until both got stuck when their avardups kept them from winning through the last barrel.

Miss Marie Hines of Uniontown won the umbrella race for ladies. C. H.
Ehret of Greensburg, took the car feeding contest and Elmer Stahl, also of Greensburg, was the best joint maker of the linemen who entered the contest. The human burden race was won by C. E. Keener, carrying D. R. Truder.
A pleasing feature of the day was the receipt of a cablegram from W. B.
Kuhn, who is in Europe, but did not forget the employees. Mr. Kuhn said:
"Give entire force best time possible. Nothing in Europe equals the West Penn and its men."

Mr. Kuhn sent the message of cheer from Brunswick, Germany. It was directed to Superintendent of Transportation J. W. Brown, who immediately tacked it up where all the employees could read it.

The special cars returned to Connellsville about 9 o'clock after a record run from the park. Two of the cars took the Hecla route and two came by way of Hunker. There was a spirited race between Greensburg and Scottdale, the Hunker cars winning by a hair. By the time Connellsville was reached the cars were well bunched.

It is expected that a much larger crowd will attend on Thursday, as the first day is usually the least attractive. If the picnickers tomorrow have a better time than those of yesterday they will have to go some.

RICH PICKING IN POLICE COURT

335 Received in Forfeits From Five Offenders Helps to Strengthen Borough Treasury.

A rich haul was made in police court last night when $36 was received in forfeits from five offenders. Two Dunbar Italians, charged with insulting two Snyder street residents, paid $10 each, while three men charged with fighting, posted $5 each.

The raid on a crowd of sleepers in the lumber yard of the Connellsville Planing Mill Company brought in an additional $5 or so. The police claim that the lotteries about the lumber yard are a menace, as they are apt to set the yard on fire from cigarette stumps, and several were caught in net during the night. Most of them were warned to get out of town immediately.

Several drinks of the common variety were sentenced, getting the usual commitment of 48 hours each.

Cripple Has Back Broken.
James West, a crippled peddler, had his back broken when a freight car under which he slept was moved by a switching engine near Monaca-hela. He was taken to the Monaca-hela Hospital.

SOCIAL.

Birthday Party.

In honor of his 21st birthday anniversary Homer E. Elcher was tundered a very pleasant surprise party last Thursday evening at the Elcher country home, a short distance from Connellsville. The affair was planned by his parents and all the guests were well carried off. The evening was delightfully spent in various games and music and at a late hour a bounteous repast was served by Mrs. Elcher and her daughter. Mr.
Elcher was the recipient of many pretty and useful presents. About 80 young people were present to assist in the celebration of the event. The out of town guests present were Miss Nellie Colburn, Maude and Blanche Cooper, Blanche Fosselman and E. H.
Koeber of Connellsville; Miss Glo-rietta Colburn of Richmond, Ohio;
Miss Anna Jacobs and Edna Mindel of Dunbar; Miss Marie Irwin and Miss Irene Bishop of Uniontown.

May Ride and Corn Roast.
A very delightful social event of last evening was a hay ride and corn roast given by Miss Margaret Gilmore in honor of Miss Virginia Wil-kie of Harrisonburg, Va., the guest of the Misses Sauter. About 50 young people left here in a large hay wagon for the old Gilmore homestead at Gilmore's Mill, where a most enjoyable evening was spent. There were lots of cider and roasting ears which were served hot from the coals. The out of town guests present including the honor guest were Carl Knauer, Louis Gilmore and George Hens of Uniontown; Miss Gertrude Colburn of Richmond, O., and Jacob Poundstone of California State.

Entertains Younger Pupils.
Miss Maude Jennings, an instrumental music teacher, pleasantly entertained a number of her younger pupils at her home on South Prospect street last evening. Various games were played on the lawn and after 10 o'clock the guests assembled in the dining room where a dainty repast was served.

Important C. W. B. M. Meeting.
The monthly meeting of the C. W.
B. M. Auxiliary of the Christian Church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. M. Grey on South Pittsburgh street. The annual election of officers will take place. A large attendance is desired.

Missionary Workers in Session.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of the First Presbyterian Church is being held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. P. Barkley on South Pittsburgh street. A meeting of the Aid Society will follow.

The King's Daughters of the First Presbyterian Church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Miss Rebecca Sauter on the South Side.

The afternoon will be spent in sewing.

Missionary Society Will Meet.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of The Methodist Episcopal Church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church.

Quarterly Conference Meeting.

The quarterly conference meeting of the United Brethren Church will be held this evening. Rev. J. S. Fulton of Johnstown and presiding elder will preside.

Evening at Cards.

Miss Pearl Fries will entertain at cards tomorrow evening at her home on Elm street in honor of Miss Virginia Winkle of Harrisonburg, Va.

A PRETTY HOT SUMMER.

Old Sol Has Been Right on the Job
Most of the Time.
It has been a pretty hot summer—not, of course, nearly as hot as the summers of '49 or '53, as the old folks will tell you—but hot enough for all purposes. However, it is the summer's heat that must provide for the winter's necessities, just as in the spring and summer of our existence we must provide for the winter of life. It is while we are young or middle aged that we must lay by a store of dollars for old age, for as sure as the seasons pass by, it will be the time will come when the saved dollar will be the only dollar we can count upon. A savings account with The First National Bank of Connellsville, may be opened with $1. Four per cent interest.

Every Day.

Opportunities are afforded many people to save money. Why not take advantage of them and lay up a competence for future years. An account with the Citizens National Bank is just what you need. Four per cent interest paid on savings accounts.
Citizens National Bank of Connellsville, Pa. Capital $100,000.00. Surplus and profits $100,000.00.

Some Peaches.

Colonel J. J. Barnhart was a pleasant caller at The Courier office this morning, leaving behind a good supply of luscious peaches. They were splendid specimens of his orchard and were greatly enjoyed by the force. He had an especially large crop this year, effectively proving that on one farm
the peach crop was not a failure.

Fan Destroyed.

Destruction by fire of the fan house at the Allegheny Steel Company's mine has thrown 100 miners out of employment temporarily. The origin of the blaze is unknown. The loss is $300.

MANY EVENTS PLANNED.

Athletics to Play Big Part in Labor Day Celebration.

At a meeting last night many of the details were completed for the Labor Day celebration by the trade unionists of Fayette county to be held at Shady Grove park. In addition to the usual park features many new ones will be in evidence. The athletic event which began promptly at 10 o'clock will be worthy. This part of the day's program has been placed in competent hands, men who have successfully carried out such affairs. The tug-of-war between the Uniontown trades council and the Connellsville trades council will be a feature. The prize is a $175.00 flag and has been won in two previous events by the Uniontown council. The brewery workers of Uniontown and Connellsville will battle for supremacy on the baseball diamond, and the Connellsville boys are confident of getting the scalp of the county seat bunch. Both the Yough and Pittsburgh brewing plants have teams and expect them to win some good players. T. B. Whitman will give an exhibition high jump, attempting to beat his own record of 5 feet 11 inches.

Among the other events will be a contest high jump, a 100 yard dash, running broad jump, long jump, 100 yard race for ladies, fat men's race, watermelon eating contest, an apple race, and a number of others.

"MIKADO" APPEARS AT COLONIAL THEATRE HERE

Everything in Readiness for the Connellsville Performance This Evening.

A special car will bring a number of Uniontown music lovers here tonight to witness the performance of "The Mikado" at the Colonial theatre by Uniontown talent. The opera has played to two crowded houses in Uniontown and made a decided hit. It is expected that a good house will witness the Connellsville performance.

The work of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stout of Connellsville is highly commended. Mr. and Mrs. Stout took charge of the play only a week before its initial performance but their marked ability in training amateurs made itself felt in this production.

"The Mikado" was again greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience at Uniontown last night and it is hoped that the excellent company giving it will have a full house at the Colonial tonight.

The members of the cast received many accolades. Mrs. Susan Brooks Rutherford having three on her beautiful aria, "Hearts Do Not Break," and O'Neill Kennedy the same number on his "Tit-willow" song.

The chorus of 40 singers and orchestra of ten pieces ably backed up the nine principals in their work, making the opera a great musical success.
As Peter Stout now takes it up, "It's all ready to go on the road."

OLDEST FOREIGNER WANTS CITIZENSHIP

Bohemian, 63 Years Old, Is Patriarch
Compared With Other Applicants.

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 1.—During the seven months between February 1 and August 31 of this year there have been 162 declarations of intention filed in the alien docket by foreigners of the county. Only leads with 52 who are ambitious to become citizens; Hungary is next with 45 and Austria 28.

Bohemia is represented by one candidate for citizenship, Frank Hark, who is a preacher and one of the oldest men to apply for naturalization papers. He is 63 years old and has been living in this country but a short time.

APPRAISEMENT IS MADE.

Board Decides $6,000 Sufficient for Klondike Property.
J. A. Mason, Cyrus Eckhardt, C. W.
Patterson, F. E. Arnsperg, E. Dunn and D. F. Girard, appraisers of the great estate of the late H. P. Berryhill, have concluded their report. They assembled the property yesterday.

The Klondike property, valued highly by its late owner, was placed at $6,000. At South Connellsville, a value of $2,500 was placed on two tracts of land; $1,700 for a residence on Bal-win avenue; $150 for a lot on Francis avenue, and $200 for a lot in Vanderbilt.

"Frauds Upon the Public"

Is what some physicians have called patent medicines, and it is undeniably true that some are frauds and some are even worse, because they are injurious. On the other hand, there are many patent medicines such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and others, which are of real worth, and are recommended by physicians of recognized standing.

Strikebreakers Discharged.

Two Baltimore & Ohio strikebreakers were arrested as suspicious characters during the night. They were discharged this morning upon their explanation that they wanted to leave town. They were Emil Ungelhof and August Shob, both of Newark, N. J.

CHILD'S DREADFUL SKIN TROUBLES

Had Sixty Boils when but Six Months Old—Was Annually Attacked by a Humor—It Looked Red Like a Scald and Spread Over Half Her Head—Both Troubles are Cured.

NO PRAISE TOO HIGH FOR THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. As soon as the child was covered with pimples, he and I supplied in scratching it, her own head became infected for
it broke out in boils,
one after another.
She had about sixty
in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment
which cured her of them entirely. Then sometime later, her little foot got sore between the toes. Being afraid it was scald, I spoke to my doctor. He gave me a powder which dried it up, but soon after it broke out behind her ears. They cracked half way around and the humor spread on to her head until, on several occasions, it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every year. I think it was toward the spring.
I always bathed it with warm water and Cuticura Soap and applied Cuticura Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out was when she was six years old. It became so bad that I was discouraged. Then I procured a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent which soon cleared it out of her blood. I continued the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment with the Resolvent until she was perfectly well. She is now about eight years old and has never been troubled in the last two years.
We also find Cuticura Resolvent a good spring medicine and we are just giving the children Cuticura Resolvent Pills as a tonic. It does not hurt any one and cures Cuticura Remedies too highly.
Mrs. M. A. Scherwin, 874 Spring Walla
Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 21, 1908."

SCOTSDALE BOYS FOR THE NAVY.

Recruiting Officer Will Be
There From Next Tuesday Until Friday.

LOOKING FOR NEW SAILORS

Mrs. J. G. Hubbs Dies Suddenly in Cleveland—Mrs. Anna Holliday Gives Police a Nervous Spell—Letter Carriers' Convention.

SCOTSDALE, Sept. 1.—Any young man who wants a chance to sail on the briny main in one of Uncle Sam's battleships will soon have an opportunity to make a try to wear the low-necked shirt and the broad-bottomed pants. Joseph B. Hand, gunner's mate, whatever that is, in the United States Navy, will be in Scottdale from September 7 to 10, according to a notice posted at the postoffice, and his address will be care of the "General Delivery" where any youngster who wants to learn about the art of putting to sea may have an opportunity to write and open his heart as to the things that he thirsts to know as to deep sea sailing. It would seem that the Navy selects an elegant time, just about the school opening season to lure the husky lads away, or is there no more romance in the young blood? Really there doesn't seem to be a bit of ambition among boys nowadays to become raging pirates of the main, dead shots, or cow-boys, or soldiers or sailors. They seem only to think of pulling their pants up to show their ankles to their knee caps, to consume cigarettes, talk loudly, sing nigger songs, and make a noise that is only exceeded by the loudness of their raucous. Alas, the days of romance seem gone.

Oysters Are Here.
The oyster is in our midst once more, after several months absence, the day being the first of September, a month with an "R" in it. In consequence of the advent of the month the restaurants are getting out the oyster soup on the list along with the "veg" and the "bean."

Visiting Relatives Here.
Mrs. Walter Anderson and little daughter of East Liverpool, O., are visiting Mrs. Hester A. Anderson of Market and Steiner street.

Mrs. Hubbs Dead.
Mr. and Mrs. William S. Loucks were called suddenly to Cleveland yesterday by the news of the death of the latter's only sister, Mrs. J. G. Hubbs in that city. There were no details of the death and the family had not heard of their sister being ill. No funeral arrangements were made either. The deceased was a daughter of the late Jonas M. Deer of near Hawkwood, and is survived by her husband, who was formerly of Youngwood, and several small children.

Mrs. Holliday a Visitor.
Mrs. Anna Holliday, who has been making a pathetic and sometimes hilarious tour of the coke region left town yesterday for Connellsville. She had been in Connellsville a few days and then went to Mt. Pleasant where she was entertained in the lockup on account of being drunk, and then came to Scottdale where she spent the night in the borough jail, and was put on a street car by Chief Frank McCudden yesterday. Someone violates the law in furnishing the woman with all the liquor that she can apparently, and her presence in town is always a matter of concern to the police who fear that she will get killed on the streets. She has already had several narrow escapes from being killed.

Will Attend Convention.
Several of the local letter carriers of Postmaster B. C. Frota's office expect to attend the Rural Delivery convention which will be held in Greensburg on September 6 and 7. George L. Craft is the carrier and John Allen Porter the substitute on the Scottdale rural route.

DEED OF TRUST.

Placed on Record To Guarantee Bond Issue.

SOMERSET, Sept. 1.—A mortgage or deed of trust has been placed on record in Somerset county. The Atlantic Coal Company, a recently chartered corporation, in order to secure a bond issue of $75,000, gives this mortgage to Edward E. Robbins, a Greensburg attorney, who will hold the property as trustee. There will be 75 bonds worth $1,000 each issued and they will bear interest at five percent. The mortgage covers all the property of the Atlantic Coal Company, including their mines and machinery and 250 acres of valuable coal property in Jenner township. This company owns the Charles Griffith tract located about half a mile north of Jenner and contains 116 acres, the Fred Gordon farm adjoining the Griffith tract and containing 97 acres, the Ed. P. Sipe tract adjoining the other two tracts and containing 23 acres.

Barron Will Probated.
The will of Jacob D. Barron of Lincolnton was probated Monday. The instrument was written March 23, 1905, and his sons John and Jacob are named as executors. The estate is valued at $2,000 and is left to his wife Caroline during life and then to his sons John and Jacob.

Fifty cities will join in honoring the memory of Henry George by celebrating the seventieth anniversary of his birth. The famous apostle of single tax was born on September 2, 1839. TWO DIVORCES GRANTED.

Two Couples of Similar Names Are Freed By Court.

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 1.—In the matter of divorce proceedings of Mary Lukacki, libellant vs. Joe Lukacki respondent, the master, John Duggan, Jr., after hearing all the evidence, recommended absolute divorce and the court made an order granting the same.

This couple had been married in Mt. Pleasant, February 12, 1904. They had kept house in Mt. Pleasant three months when his cruel treatment and his adulterous conduct with other women drove her from her home, and she has since been living in Uniontown working as a domestic to support herself. The evidence was strong and the decision of the master warranted.

In the matter of the divorce proceedings of Anna Lazarechik, libellant vs. Mike Lazarechik, respondent, the master, D. E. Dane, found the charges of cruelty and adultery on the part of the respondent well founded and accordingly recommended the granting of absolute divorce, and the court made an order in accordance with the recommendation of the master. This couple had been married February 23, 1905, and had lived together less than a month when the treatment of the husband drove the wife from home with the final result above recorded.

John S. Griffith of Luzerne township, who sues the Monongahela Railroad Company and McMenamin & Sims, contractors, for damages to his property in the construction of an extension of the railway through his premises, has joined issue with the defendants in asking for an early hearing of the case.

In the suit of J. H. Dunn against J. P. Murphy to recover on a note for $2,500, Mrs. Mary Murphy, wife of the defendant, asks a stay of execution on the note, which she says was made to deprive her of her rightful interest in her husband's property.

MANY PRESENT

At Closing Exercises of Flatwoods Baptist Church.

A record breaking attendance marked the closing exercises of the 75th reunion of the Flatwoods Baptist Church. The services commenced Friday afternoon and were brought to a close Sunday evening. Rev. J. E. Darby of Old City delivered the closing sermon. Sunday morning Rev. George Woofor of Bridgeport, preached. At the close of this service holy communion was observed. During the reunion there were a large number present from a distance who had not been at the old church for years.

Among the many interesting parts of the church's history is the observance of the communion service on the third Sunday in January, April, July, and October, for the past 74 years, and no record exists that this custom was ever observed at any other time. The service of the late Matthew Arison as deacon shows a record of 37 years; of Joseph Bute and Aaron Townsend, 35 years each; Joseph Essington, 19 years. The present oldest deacons are Christopher Blair and Jonathan Shafter, whose services have covered a period of 19 years; George B. Shafter and Robert McBurney, 13 years. The length of service of Joseph Bute as clerk was 20 years and ten months, and the present clerk, E. A. Carr, 17 years. M. E. Townsend has been treasurer the past 10 years. The living pastors, N. B. Critchfield, J. E. Darby, G. A. Woofor, James S. Jewell and James W. Hayes were present.

VETS PICNIC TO BE A ROUSING AFFAIR.

Outing Will Take Place Tomorrow and Will Be a Large One.

PRIZE FOR GOOD SHOOTING

Various Games Are To Be Played While Some Other Interesting Stunts Will Be Pulled Off—Won't Be any Speaking This Year.

The War Veterans of the Sixties will hold a picnic at the Gallagher-Johnson farm near Trotter on Thursday, September 2nd, 1909. The committee has issued the following circular:

"Each attendant at this gathering will bring enough rations for two meals and some to spare. There will be no brass band music, there will be no speech making, nor any singing, but all kinds of innocent games will be allowed, such as euchre, whist, five hundred, bridge, pool, seven-up, high-low-jack-and-the-game, no-No, not not poker. However, there will be golf links and golf sticks for the golfers, mullet, balls and hoops for the croqueters, shinar, clubs, basketball, tennis balls, quoits, etc. for all. A Marathon race will be pulled off when dinner is announced. There will be two baseball games, one while lunch is being served, and the other game after adjournment and every body has gone home. A handsome prize will be awarded to the old Vet making the best pistol shot at ten paces. The end of the big barn will be used as a target for this purpose, with the bull's eye in the center, so that all hits can be measured accurately. The man making a hole farthest from the center pays for the prize 50¢ off.

"One of the most interesting features of the day will be an aerial descent. Corporal Green will fly from the top of the corner building using two tent poles for wings. A blanket will be held where he is expected to light to keep him from dropping into the barn yard litter.

"The foregoing is but a small part of the program. We are going to make the single scream that day, and we are going to make ice cream, and the whole business will have to be soon to be appreciated. So come, and don't forget the rations.

"The trolley can will stop at the gate and there will be garage room in the barn and orchard for a hundred or more carriages and buzz wagons. Colonel J. J. Barnhart and a lot of other Colonels will be there."

SLAM THE GAUNTLET.

Come Out, You Nows Guys, and Roll the Ducks.

G-P-P-P-P. That's the way those Courier duckpin artists feel just about now. They want blood, real, red, gory blood, and nothing but the scalp of The News gang will satisfy 'em.

Notice is hereby given that The Courier duckpin team, consisting of five bright and glittering stars of the alloys, challenges a similar quintet from The News to roll three games for the journalistic championship of Connellsville. The boys down this way art willing to back their team with anything from $1 to the Bank of England. How about it?

Plea for Renaming All the Schools With Historic Names.

There is one matter the School Board might take up at its next meeting, said a prominent citizen. While it would perhaps provoke much discussion and possibly some hard feeling, the result would be beneficial to the community. That matter is the naming of the school houses. There is hardly a community in the State where the school buildings are so crudely designated. Especially have these incongruities become noticeable since the annexation of New Haven. Here we have the Second and Third Ward schools, the old Fourth Ward, the South Side building; the Third and Seventh street structures and the Greenwood school. Each is named because of its location, and even then there is no consistency about the designations. "School buildings are structures dedicated to the education of youth, yet their exteriors do not correspond with a single function of education. For the most part, although there are a few exceptions, they are barren looking shells, resembling not a little the prisons that innocent childhood oft pictures them. Not even by name do they inspire their tenants. "To designate the schools by wards sivers of politics and politics is the direct antithesis of education. Give the schools a name, one that it pupils may be proud of; one that will inspire them to seek loftier ends; one that will correspond with the uplift movement that is expounded within its walls. "In some cities the schools are named after Presidents, not a bad idea; in others the memories of the masters of literature are perpetuated. In New York the schools are numbered, but that is a bad precedent. People are numbered only in the penitentiaries, or in great industrial systems where individuality is lost. "Connellsville might do worse than name her schools after Governors—then teach the pupils something of those illustrious men who have left the destinies of the Commonwealth since its birth. Such a move would be an incentive to learn more of the great State which those embryo citizens call home. They know too little now. Even the Presidents serve their purpose well when their names are given to institutions of learning. "Or, better yet, why not name our schools after principals who have gone before. These rulers of the birch and rule who taught our fathers, and our fathers' fathers, have sunk into deep oblivion. They moulded the past and present generation, why not honor their memories and let them live, even in death, as examples for the present generation to emulate."

WATCHMAN FOILS PLOT

Attempt to Wreck Passenger Train Frustrated—One Man Killed.

Mineral City, O., Sept. 1.—A plot to wreck a Cleveland and Pittsburgh passenger train at the tunnel on the Bayard and New Philadelphia division half way between Mineral City and Canal Dover, was frustrated by Watchman John Mace after a battle with four train wreckers.

In a fight with knives and guns in the darkness at the entrance to the tunnel one of the train wreckers shot and killed one of his companions, and Mace was fatally wounded. He was shot near the heart and was stabbed several times. The three remaining wreckers fled as section men came running to assist Mace. The outlaws are Italians.

Son Charged With Shooting Father.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 1.—Returning home from church with his wife, Robert Brown of Simmons, W. Va., found his son with a companion in the parlor playing the piano and raising a disturbance. The father remonstrated and ordered them from the house. The son, it is charged, caught up a gun and shot his father dead. He was captured.

200 Miners Homeless.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 1.—Ten double blocks owned by the West End Coal company at Lee, a mining village near here, were completely destroyed by fire. They were occupied by 200 miners in the employ of the company, all of whom are homeless until shelter can be obtained for them. Loss, $35,000.

DEATH LIST GROWS LARGER.

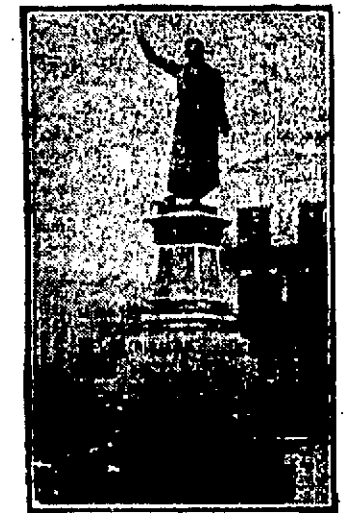

Flood Victims Are Uncovered in Unexpected Places.

RED CROSS MAKES APPEAL

Three Hundred Bodies Are Found Grouped About an Old Well Near Outskirts of Monterey—Quicksands May Have Covered Victims.

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—A dispatch received here from Monterey, the Mexican city that was swept by a flood, says that three hundred bodies were found grouped about an old well near the iron foundry on the outskirts of the city.

Approximately one thousand bodies have been recovered to date and it is believed that the statement that the total death list will amount to 2,000 is well within the figures. Scores of bodies are said to have been swallowed in the river quicksands.

As the reports come in it is seen that the situation at Monterey is more serious than was at first supposed. The city lacks food and water. The federal government has sent an additional $20,000 to be expended for relief.

There are no cases of actual starvation yet reported, but thousands of homeless are destitute. People are suffering from hunger. The coffee and soup which are being served free to great numbers of the sufferers will tide them over until railroad communication is re-established.

Red Cross Appeals.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The following appeal has been issued by the National Red Cross:

"In view of official advices from American diplomatic representatives in Mexico that destruction exists as a result of the recent flood, especially at Monterey, and that assistance from the United States is badly needed and desired, the American Red Cross appeals to the American public for contributions for the relief of our neighbors of Mexico. Contributions received by the Red Cross will be promptly forwarded by telegraph and accounts and reports of the disaster and relief measures will be published from time to time as received, by the direction of the central committee. Contributions may be sent to the National Red Cross, care of the war department, Washington, D. C.

"A telegram from the American consul general at Monterey states that thousands are homeless and that practically the entire population of 100,000 have suffered from the flood. It is believed that from $50,000 to $100,000 will be needed to meet the emergency.

"The central committee has directed that $2,000 be sent to Consul General Hanna and that sum will be at once telegraphed to him. This sum nearly exhausts the fund always kept on hand by the society for emergency and additional funds are urgently needed for immediate use."

ROME SHAKEN

Visited by Earthquake Which Did Little Damage.

Rome, Sept. 1.—Rome was shaken by an earthquake. The damage was slight and no casualties are reported. The only damage is the cracking of the chapel of Santa Anna.

There was considerable apprehension in the crowded districts of the city and the men and women in the city hospitals and prisons were in a condition bordering on panic until assurances were given that there was no danger. The Vatican was not affected.

SCENE OF ASBURY PARK BABY PARADE; SOME YOUNGSTERS WHO TRY FOR PRIZES

More than 250 youngsters have been enrolled for the baby parade which is to be held in Asbury Park, N. J., on September 4. This parade is an annual event, but this year the promoters have arranged for the biggest display in the history of the famous summer resort. Besides prizes for the prettiest, fattest, smallest and largest babies, there will be trophies for the most attractive float in the pageant and for the little contestant coming the longest distance to participate in the event. One year a baby from Japan won this last named prize and this year babies from California and other far western points will be in the parade. President Taft will write a letter of congratulation to the little one capturing the chief prize, a handsome silver cup for the champion baby of America. The parageant of scores of wealthy persons has been enlisted in the baby parade, and some of the floats provided by them for the children cost far into the hundreds of dollars. The board walk, as usual, is to be the scene of the parade, and Asbury Park expects the largest late season crowd in its history. This group of photographs show a throng on the board walk and some of the youthful contestants

TROUBLE BREAKS OUT

Workers and Strikers Clash at Youngstown, O.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 1.—The first serious outbreak between the strikers and workers of the American Sheet and Tinplate company at Struthers occurred last night when Fred Staven, a striker, was fatally stabbed. Several of the men working in the mill were approached by a company of strikers. A quarrel started and the cutting knife followed.

Ed Whittle, Jacob Lahn and Willis Anderson were placed under arrest. Serious trouble was averted by the prompt arrival of Sheriff Turner and his deputies and Chief William Griffin.

MRS. DUKE ARRESTED.

Without Money She Has Strenuous Day in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Allen Webb Duke, divorced wife of Brodie L. Duke, spent the night in a cell at the Harrison Street station. Mrs. Duke was arrested upon complaint of an automobile company because of her inability to pay $40 rent for a machine she had used during the day.

Before her arrest Mrs. Duke created a disturbance at the Palmer House and in the criminal court building. Upon her arrival at the Palmer House she demanded the best suite in the hotel and when asked to pay for it in advance she admitted she had no money, but said she would "shove $1,000 tomorrow." She then tried to send telegrams to Governor Deneen of this state and other prominent men but the telegraph operators in the hotel refused to accept the messages unless paid for in advance.

Later she went to the criminal court building and told Assistant State's Attorney Day that relatives of her former husband were plotting to take her life. After leaving there she visited a number of lawyers and business men and tried to interest them in a plan to float a bond issue to save Turkey from bankruptcy.

Mrs. Duke had been using a hired automobile for all these trips, and when the chauffeur demanded his money she admitted she had none.

CHARGES AGAINST M'CLELLAN

Alleged to Have Squandered Public Money to Extent of $100,000.

New York, Sept. 1.—Charges against Mayor McClellan filed with Governor Hughes by Bird S. Coler, president of the borough of Brooklyn, were made public here. Mr. Coler alleges that Mayor McClellan has squandered money in the investigations ordered by his commissioner of accounts and that these investigations have been aimed solely at his political opponent for political purposes and not for the general good of the city government.

In the investigation of the office of the president of the borough of Brooklyn, Coler charges that the mayor has "misplaced public funds of the city of New York to the extent of at least $100,000."

Doctors File Bills For $105,000. Toledo, O., Sept. 1.—Drs. James and Peter Donnelly of Toledo have filed suit to recover from the trustees of the failed Ohio German Fire Insurance company $105,000 worth of municipal bonds, of which they claim ownership.

JUSTICE MOODY ILL.

Much Secrecy Maintained Concerning His Ailment.

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 1.—With many precautions for secrecy, Associate Justice William H. Moody of the United States supreme court was removed in a police ambulance from the Bradford railroad station to his home here.

It is understood that his condition is serious. He appeared to be helpless during the transfer from the train.

to the ambulance. Although Justice Moody's ailment was announced officially as a case of rheumatism and gout, local physicians who have known him for years believe it to be more serious.

Justice Moody came here, it is understood, from a sanatorium in New York state, where he has been for several weeks. No intimation of his indisposition had been received here previously.

BAN ON CHAUFFEUR

Prohibited From Driving a Car in New York State Again.

New York, Sept. 1.—One of the severest decrees ever pronounced by a court in an effort to discourage automobile speeding prohibits Felix L. Drott, a professional chauffeur and participant in the Vanderbilt cup race and many other speed contests, from ever again driving a car in New York state.

Justice Zeller in the court of special sessions suspended sentence in Drott's case when he promised to regard those directions. Drott had been arrested several times for speeding and has spent some time in jail and paid a number of heavy fines.

TWO STRIKERS SHOT

Private Detective Has Narrow Escape From Being Lynched.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 1.—John C. Nicolai, a private detective employed by the Lake Carriers' association, shot two marine strikers dead on the West Shore ore docks and was only saved from lynching by the quick arrival of the police.

The dead men are: George Houghton, a fireman, and Matthew Dwyer, an oiler. Nicolai claims that they attacked him and two strikebreakers and that he fired in self defense. The strikers along the docks are in an ugly temper.

RECEIVED BY FALLIERES

Mrs. Roosevelt and Ethel Visit French President.

Rambouillet, France, Sept. 1.—The president of France and Mme. Fallieres received Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Miss Ethel Roosevelt at his chateau. The party came from Paris in an automobile, Ambassador and Mrs. White being included in the number.

Tea was served after which, escorted by the president, Mrs. Roosevelt and her daughter viewed the historic treasures of the chateau and strolled about the grounds until time to return to Paris.

CLODBURST SWEEPS TOWN

Wall of Water Twelve Feet High Rushes Through Rayhite, Nev.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 1.—The mining camp of Rayhite, 100 miles from here, was swept by a clodburst last evening, a wall of water said to have been twelve feet in height, rushing through the streets.

Six women, and children are reported missing, five hundred persons are homeless and 165 buildings have been destroyed.

Roosevelt's "Johnny Cake" Cook Dead.

Mont Clair, N. J., Sept. 1.—Hector Campbell, a famous Scotch cook, who was employed for many years in the family of former President Roosevelt, died here at the age of ninety-six. She was particularly noted for her recipe of "Johnny cake" and always accompanied the Roosevelt family on its trips.

Woman Dies of Elephantiasis.

New York, Sept. 1.—Elephantiasis was a contributory cause of the death of Mrs. Theresa Habets, who died in a hospital here. She weighed 500 pounds and it will be necessary to construct a special casket for her body. Until three years ago the woman was of ordinary size.

KEYES SISTERS PLEASE BIG AUDIENCE

Boisson Theatre Crowded Last Night to See the Second Production by Clever Company.

The charming little Keyes Sisters were greeted with a crowded house again at the Boisson theatre last night when they presented "Wolfe Creek Belles." The company is infinitely stronger than any previous season and all their productions are absolutely perfect. Special scenery is carried for most of the plays. Miss Helen Keyes in the leading character, won the sympathy of the audience, and gave a difficult part a splendid rendition, soft, womanly, but with a good girl's determination to do right, she pictured the various scenes with telling effect. Miss Dot Keyes, the bright, joyous exponent of sunbeam smiles, together with her brother Chet Keyes, gave an atmosphere of sunshine to the play, that permeated the happy hearts of the audience. They are great favorites here and were greeted heartily. Mr. Varney, Mr. Byron and the balance of the company were adequate in their characters. Mr. Byron, especially by his intensity, giving a strong dramatic turn to all his scenes. Tonight the sensational melodrama "Paid a Debt" will be produced.

Tonight will be souvenir night and the Keyes Sisters will give to all the ladies, absolutely free, a beautiful and useful souvenir of their third visit to Connellsville. On Friday night a special production of the "Derby Winner" is given, introducing a real race horse scene and the famous "Whang-Doodle" Band. Seats can be secured in advance at the theatre.

Aerial Races to Be Held in Italy.

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 1.—The next great aerial race will be held here on the field of Montebellari, when many of the experts who made the Rheims meeting so notable will participate. The competitions will begin on Sept. 5 and will continue for two weeks. Prizes are offered for two classes of airships, dirigibles and aeroplanes.

Workmen Hurt in Building Collapse.

Marion, N. C., Sept. 1.—Three workmen were fatally injured and several others were dangerously hurt when the middle wall of a new hotel building being erected here collapsed. When the crash came the men fell five stories and were buried beneath the debris.

Sweden's Strikers Starving.

Stockholm, Sept. 1.—The Attornblad asserts that many strikers are actually starving and that others are subsisting on bread and water and fish caught in the archipelago or tramping the country robbing the potato fields.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Tower W.

At the end of a long and neglected hall on the second floor of the old bank block in Hill street, Whispering Smith had a room in which he made headquarters at Medicine Bend; it was in effect Whispering Smith's home.

The door of the room in the course of many years had been mutilated with keyholes and re-enforced with locks until it appeared difficult to choose an opening that would really afford entrance; but two men besides Whispering Smith carried keys to the room—Kennedy and George McCloud. They had right of way into it at all hours, and knew how to get in.

McCloud had left the bridge camp on the river for Medicine Bend on the Saturday that Marion Sinclair—whose husband had finally told her he would give her one more chance to think it over—returned with Dickie safely from their trip to the Frenchman ranch.

Whispering Smith, who had been with Buckle and Morris Blood, got back to town the same day. The president and general manager were at the Wickup during the afternoon, and left for the east at nine o'clock in the evening, when their car was attached to an east-bound passenger train. McCloud took supper afterward with Whispering Smith at a front street chop-house, and the two men separated at 11 o'clock. It was three hours later when McCloud tapped on the door of Smith's room, and in a moment opened it. "Come in," said Smith. "Sure, come in. What is it?"

"The second section of the passenger train—Number Three, with express cars—was stopped at Tower W. tonight. Oliver Soliers was pulling; he is badly shot up, and one of the messengers was shot all to pieces. They cracked the through safe, emptied it, and made a clean getaway."

"Tower W—278 miles. Have you ordered up an engine?"

"Where's Kennedy?"

A second voice answered: "Right here."

"Strike a light, Farrell. What about the horses?"

"They're being loaded."

"Is the line clear?"

"Rooney Lee is clearing it."

"Spike it, George, and leave every west-bound train in siding, with the engine but loose and plenty of steam, till we get by. It's now or never this time. Two hundred and seventy-six miles; they're giving us our money's worth. Who's going with us, Farrell?"

"Bob Scott, Reed Young, and Brili. If Reed can get him at Sleepy Cat, Dancing is leading the horses."

"I want Ed Banks to lead a posse straight from here for Williams Cache; Dancing can go with him. And telephone Gene and Bob Johnson to sit down in Canadian pass till they grow to the rocks, but not to let anybody through if they want to live after I see them. They've got all the instructions; all they need is the word. It's a long chance, but I think these are our friends. You can head Banks off by telephone somewhere if we change our minds when we get a trail. Start Brili Young and a good man from Sleepy Cat ahead of us, George. If you can, in a baggage car with any horses that he can get there. They can be at Tower W by daybreak and perhaps pick up a trail before we reach there, and we shall have fresh horses for them. I'm ready, I guess; let's go. Stand the door, George!"

In the hall Whispering Smith threw a pocket-light on his watch. "I want you to put us there by seven o'clock."

"Charlie Soliers is going to pull you," answered McCloud. "Have you got everything? Then we're off." The three men tiptoed down the dark hall, down the stairs, and across the street on a noiseless run for the railroad yard.

The air was chill and the sky clear, with a moon more than half to the full. "Lord, what a night to ride!" exclaimed Whispering Smith, looking mournfully at the stars. "Well planned, well planned, I must admit."

The men hastened toward the yard, where lanterns were moving about the car of the train, guards near the Blue Front stable. The loading board had been lowered, and the horses were being carefully led into the car. From a switch engine behind the car a swirl of steam billowed into the air. Across the yard a great passenger engine, its huge white side-roof rising and falling slowly in the still light of the moon—one of the mountain racers, thick-necked like an athlete and deep-chested—was backing down for the run with the single car almost across the west end of the division. Trains were running to and from the Wickup platform. By the time the horses were loaded the conductor had orders. Until the last minute, Whispering Smith was in consultation with McCloud, and giving Dancing precise instructions for the posse into the Cache country. They were still talking at the side door of the car. McCloud and Dancing on the ground and Whispering Smith squatting on his haunches inside the moving car, when the engine signaled and the special drew away from the chute, pounded up the long run of the ladder switch, and moved with gathering speed into the canyon. In the cab Charlie Soliers, cringing in his hand the tissue that had brought the news of his brother's death, sat at the throttle. He had no speed orders. They had told him he had a clear track.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Pursuit.

Brili Young picked up a trail Sunday morning at Tower W before the special from Medicine Bend reached there. The wrecked express car, which had been set out, had no story to tell. "The only story," said Whispering Smith, as the men climbed into their saddles, "is in the one from the horse, and the sooner we get after it the better."

The country around Tower W, which is itself an operating point on the western end of the division, a mere speck on the desert, lies high and rolling. To the south, 60 miles away, rise the Grosse Terre mountains, and to the north and west lie the solitudes of the Heart range, while in the northeast are seen the three white Saddle peaks of the Missions. The cool, bright sunshine of a far and lonely horizon greets the traveler here, and ten miles away from the railroad, in any direction, a man on horseback and unacquainted with the country would find himself—mountain men will tell you in a bell, because it would be easier to ride out of.

To the railroad men the country offered no unusual difficulties. The Youngs were as much at home on a horse as on a hand car. Kennedy, though a large and powerful man, was used to hard riding, and Bob Scott and Whispering Smith in the saddle were merely a part—though an important part—of their horses; without killing their mounts, they could get out of them every mile in their legs. The five men covered 20 miles on a trail that read like print. One after another of the railroad party commented on the carelessness with which it had been left. But 20 miles south of the railroad, in an open and comparatively easy country, it was swallowed completely up in the tracks of 100 horses. The railroad men circled far and wide, only to find the herd tracks everywhere ahead of them.

"This is a beautiful job," murmured Whispering Smith as the party rode together, along the edge of a creek-bottom. "Now who is their friend down in this country? What man would get out a bunch of horses like this and work them this hard so early in the morning? Let's hunt that man up. I like to meet a man that is a friend in need."

Bob Scott spoke: "I saw a man with some horses in a canyon across the creek a few minutes ago, and I saw a ranchhouse behind those buttes when I rode around them."

"Stop! Here's a man riding right into our jaws," muttered Kennedy. "Divide up among the rocks. A horse-man from the south came galloping up the creek, and Kennedy rode out with an ivory smile to meet him. The two men parleyed for a moment, dismounted each other sharply, and rode together back to the railroad party.

"Haven't seen any men looking for horses this morning, have you?" asked Whispering Smith, eying the stranger, a squat, square-jawed fellow with a catnap eye.

"I'm looking for horses myself. I ain't seen anybody else. What are you looking for?"

"Is this your bunch of horses that got loose here?" asked Smith.

"No."

"I thought," said Kennedy, smiling, "you said a minute ago they were."

"The stranger fixed his catnap on him like a flash-light. 'I changed my mind.'"

Whispering Smith's brows rose protestingly, but he spoke with perfect amiability as he raised his finger to bring the good eye his way. "You ought to change your mind but when you change your mind. I saw you driving a bunch of horses up that canyon a few minutes ago. Now, Rockstro, do you still drag your left leg?"

"Now Shall I Break Your Arm?"

The rancher looked steadily at his now inquisitor, but blinked like a gopher at the sudden onslaught. "Which of you fellows is Whispering Smith?" he demanded.

"The man with the dough is Whispering Smith," every time," was the answer from Smith himself. "You have about seven years to serve, Rockstro, haven't you? Seven, I think. Now what have I ever done to you that you should turn a trick like this on me? I knew you were here, and you knew I knew you were here, and I call this a pretty country; a little smooth right around here, like the people, but pretty. Have I ever bothered you? Now tell me one thing—what did you get for covering this trail? I stand to give you two dollars for every one you got last night for the job, if you'll put us right on the same. Which way did they go?"

"What are you talking about?" "Get off your horse a minute," suggested Smith, dismounting, "and step over here toward the creek." The man, afraid to refuse and unwilling to go, walked haltingly after Smith.

"What is it, Rockstro?" asked his tormentor. "Don't you like this country? What do you want to go back to the point for? Aren't you happy here? Now tell me one thing—why do you live up the trail?"

"I don't know the trail."

"I believe you; we shouldn't follow it anyway. Were you paid last night or this morning?"

"I ain't seen a man hereabouts for a week."

"Then you can't tell me whether there were five men or six?"

"You've got one eye as good as mine, and one a whole lot better."

"So it was fixed up for cash a week ago?"

"Everything is cash in this country."

"Well, Rockstro, I'm sorry, but we'll have to take you back with us."

The rancher whipped out a revolver. Whispering Smith caught his wrist. The struggle lasted only an instant. Rockstro writhed, and the pistol fell to the ground.

"Now, shall I break your arm?" asked Smith, as the man cursed and resisted. "Or will you behave? We are going right back and you'll have to come with us. We'll send some one down to round up your horses and tell them, and you can serve out your time—with allowances, of course, for good conduct, which will cut it down. If I had ever done you a mean turn, I would not say a word. If you could name a friend of yours I had ever done a mean turn to I would not say a word. Can you name one? I guess not. I have left you as free as the wind here, making only the rule I make for everybody—to let the railroad alone. This is my thanks. Now, I'll ask you just one question. I haven't killed you, as I had a perfect right to when you pulled; I haven't broken your arm, as I would have done if there had been a doctor within 25 miles; and I haven't started you for the pen—not yet. Now I ask you one fair question only: Did you need the money?"

"Yes, I did need it."

Whispering Smith dropped the man's wrist. "Then I don't say a word. If you needed the money, I'm not going to send you back—not for mine."

"How can a man make a living in this country," asked the rancher, with a bitter oath, "unless he picks up everything that's going?"

"Pick up your gun, man! I'm not saying anything, am I?"

"But I'm damned if I can give a double-cross to any man," added Rockstro, shaking for his revolver.

"I don't think like you, Rockstro. If you did, you don't need money anyway now, but sometime you may need a friend. I'm going to leave you here. You'll hear no more of this, and I'm going to ask you a question: Why did you go against this when you knew you'd have to square yourself with me?"

"They told me you'd be taken care of before it was pulled off."

"They lied to you, didn't they? No matter, you've got your stuff. Now I am going to ask you one question that I don't know the answer to; it's a fair question too. Was Du Sang in the penitentiary with you at Fort City? Answer fair."

"Yes."

"Thank you. Behave yourself and keep your mouth shut. I say nothing this time. Hereafter leave railroad matters alone, and if the woman should fall sick or you have to have a little money, come and see me." Smith led the way back to the horses.

"Look here!" muttered Rockstro, following, with his good eye glued on his companion. "I pulled on 'you' too quick, I guess—quicker 'I'd ought to'."

"Don't mention it. You didn't pull quick enough; it is humiliating to have a man that is as slow as you are pull on me. People that pull on the usually pull and shoot at the same time. Two distinct movements. Rockstro should be avoided; they are fatal to success. Come down to the Bend sometime, and I'll get you a decent gun and give you a few lessons."

Whispering Smith drew his handkerchief as the one-eyed man rode away and he rejoined his companions. He was resigned, after a sickly fashion. "I like to play blind-man's-buff," he said, wiping his forehead, "but not so far from good water. They have pulled us half-way to the Grosse Terre mountains on a beautiful trail, too beautiful to be true, Farrell—too beautiful to be true. They have been having fun with us, and they've doubled back through the Topah Topah toward the Mission mountains and Williams Cache—that is my judgment. And aren't we five able-bodied jays, gentlemen? Five strong-arm suckers? It is an inelegant word; it is an inelegant feeling. No matter, we know a few things. There are five good men and a led horse; we can get out of here by Goose river, and out when we cross the railroad, how much they got; and pick them some where around the Saddle peaks if they've gone north. That's only a guess, and every man's guess is good now. What do you think, all of you?"

If it's the crowd we think it is, would they go straight home? That doesn't look reasonable, does it?" asked Brili Young.

"If they could put one day between them and pursuit, wouldn't they be safer at home than anywhere else? And haven't they laid out one day's work for us, good and plenty? Farrell, remember one thing: There is sometimes a disadvantage in knowing too much about the men you are after. We'll try Goose river."

It was noon when they struck the railroad. They halted long enough to stop a freight train, send some telegrams, and ask for news. They got orders from Rooney Lee, had an empty box car set behind the engine for a special, and loading their horses at a special, made a hasty start for Sleepy Cat. At three o'clock they struck north for the Mission mountains.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Sunday Murder.

Banks, leaving Medicine Bend before daybreak, headed northwest. Their instructions were explicit: To scatter after crossing the line, Frenchman watch the trails from the Grosse Terre country, and through the Mission mountains, and intercept every body riding north until the posse from Sleepy Cat or Whispering Smith could communicate with them from the southwest. Nine men rode the party that crossed the Crawling Stone Sunday morning at sunrise with Ed Banks.

After leaving the river the three white-capped Saddles of the Mission range afforded a landmark for more than 100 miles, and toward these the party pressed steadily all day. The southern pass of the Missions opens on the north slope of the range into a pretty valley known as Mission Springs, valley, and the springs are the headwaters of Deep creek. The posse did not quit above the structure and following a natural instinct of safety five of them, after Banks and his three deputies had scattered, bucked again, and at dark crossed Deep creek at some distance below the springs. It was afterward known that these five men had been seen entering the valley from the east at sundown just as four of the men they wanted rode down South Mission pass toward the springs. That they knew they would soon be out, or must cut their way through the line which Ed Banks, ahead of them, was posting at every gateway to Williams Cache, was probably due to them. Four men rode the evening from Tower W through the south pass, the fifth man had already left the party. The four men were headed by Williams Cache and had reason to believe, until they sighted Banks' men, that their path was open.

They halted to take counsel on the suspicious-looking posse far below them, and while their cruelly exhausted horses rested, Du Sang, always in Sinclair's absence the brains of the gang, planned the escape over Deep creek at Banks' crossing. At dusk they divided; two men lurking in the brush along the creek rode as close as they could unobserved, toward the crossing, while Du Sang and the cowboy Karg, known as Flat Nose, rode down to Banks' ranch at the foot of the pass.

At that point Dan Baggis, an old locomotive engineer, had taken a home-stead, got together a little bunch of cattle, and was living alone with his son, a boy of ten years. It was a hard country, and too close to Williams Cache for comfort, but Dan got on with everybody because the toughest man in the Cache country could get a meal, a feed for his horse, and a place to sleep at Baggis' without charge, when he needed it.

Ed Banks, by hard riding, got to the crossing at five o'clock, and told Baggis of the hold-up, and the shooting of Oliver Soliers. The news stirred the old engineer, and his excitement threw him off his guard. Banks rode straight on for the middle pass, leaving word that two of his men would be along within half an hour to watch the pass and the ranch crossing, and asked Baggis to put up some kind of a light for the crossing until morning if the posse came up—the least, to make sure that nobody got any fresh horses.

The boy was cooking supper in the kitchen, and Baggis had done his milking and gone back to the corral, when two men rode around the corner of the barn and asked if they could get something to eat. Poor Baggis sold his life in six words: "Why, yes; be you Banks' men?"

Du Sang answered: "No; we're from Sheriff Coon's office at Oroville, looking up a bunch of Duck Bar steers that's been run somewhere up Deep creek. Can we stay here all night?"

They dismounted, and disarmed Baggis' suspicions, though the condition of their horses might have warned him that he had his men. The two men, fortunately, had probably fixed it in his mind that a ride from Tower W to Deep creek in 16 hours was a physical impossibility.

"Stay here! Sure! I want you to stay," said Baggis, bluntly. "Looks to me like I seen you down at Crawling Stone, ain't it?" he asked of Karg.

Karg was lighting a cigarette. "I used to mark at the Daning ranch," he answered, throwing away his match.

"That's hit. Good! The boy's cooking supper. Step up to the kitchen and tell him to put out ham for four more."

"Four?"

"Two of Ed Banks' men will be here by six o'clock. Heard about the hold-up? They stopped Number Three at Tower W last night and shot Oliver Soliers, as white a boy as ever pulled a throttle. Boys, a man that'll kill a locomotive engineer is worse'n an Indian; I'd help skin him."

"The hell you would!" cried Du Sang. "Well, don't you want to start in on me? I killed Soliers. Look at me; ain't I handsome? What you goin' to do about it?"

Before Baggis could think Du Sang was shooting him down, it was wanted. Du Sang stood in no need of the butchery; the escape could have been made without it. His victim had pulled an engine throttle too long to show the white feather, but he was dying by the time he had dragged a revolver from his pocket. Du Sang did the killing alone. At least, Flat Nose, who alone saw all of the murder, afterward maintained that he did not draw because he had no occasion to, and that Baggis was dead before he, Karg, had finished his cigarette. With his right arm broken and two bullets through his chest, Baggis fell on his face. That, however, did not check his murderer. Rising to his knees, Baggis begged for his life. "For God's sake! I'm helpless, gentlemen! I'm helpless. Don't kill me like a dog!" But Du Sang, emptying his pistol, threw his rifle to his shoulder and sent bullet after bullet crashing through the shapeless form writhing and twitching before him until he had beaten it in the dust soft and flat and still.

Banks' men came up within an hour to find the ranchhouse deserted. They saw a lantern in the yard below, and near the corral gate they found the little boy in the darkness, screaming beside his father's body. The sheriff's men carried the old engineer to the house; others of the posse crossed the creek during the evening, and at 11 o'clock Whispering Smith rode down from the south pass to find that four of the men they were after had taken fresh horses, after killing Baggis, and passed safely through the Jordan Banks had drawn around the pass and along Deep creek. Bill Dancing, who had ridden with Banks' men, was at the house when Whispering Smith arrived. He found some supper in the kitchen, and the tired man and the giant ate together.

Whispering Smith was too experienced a campaigner to complain. His party had struck a trail 60 miles north of Sleepy Cat and followed it to the Missions. He knew now who he was after, and knew that they were bottled

He sat down before the fire, at intervals sobbing came from the bedroom where the body lay, and after listening a moment, Whispering Smith got stiffly up, and, tiptoeing to still the jingle of his spurs, took the candle from the table, pushed aside the curtain, and entered the bedroom.

New Autumn Goods Many New Styles

The Union Supply Company stores are already receiving and placing on sale their new Autumn goods for Women, Misses and Children. After many weeks of careful buying by practical, experienced men, we feel safe in declaring to our trade that our stocks this Fall are equal to, or might say better than any line that we have seen elsewhere.

In Domestic Dry Goods of all classes; in Women's and Misses' Made-up Underwear and all sorts of Furnishings; in all the little novelties that Women, Misses and Children must have, we feel quite sure we cannot be excelled in style or quality, and we are just as sure that our prices for the same class of goods are the lowest you will find.

SERVED THE TERRAPIN.

Crossed the Ocean to Supervise One Course of a Dinner.

George W. Harvey, the inventor of stored systems, and a famous restaurant keeper, was once the hero of an incident that in some respects made the exploits of Locutus and other noted gourmets of ancient Rome look cheap and commonplace. He made a 6,000 mile journey to cook or supervise the cooking of a single course of a dinner.

A wealthy Englishman noted for his love of good living while on a visit to Washington was given a dinner at Harvey's, at which terrapin formed the piece de resistance. It was the first time the Englishman had encountered the famous Maryland delicacy, and it made an indelible and profound impression on him. He decided that he would introduce the dish to his London friends and at once entered into negotiations with Harvey to come to London and do the cooking.

Harvey named his price, and it was accepted without a murmur, although it was a stiff one, as he was a very portly man and did not like to travel. At the appointed time he engaged his passage for England, took a sufficient number of live terrapin along with him and sailed for London. He supervised the preparation of the turtles in the kitchen of his generous employer, saw that Grafton, by winning two games from Connellsville yesterday became a pennant contender of no mean pretensions and unless the Uniontown team takes a decided brace the dark horse may win out. Grafton is hot after the rag, but the issue depends upon such a narrow margin that Dan Riley's men cannot afford to lose another game.

The slump taken by Uniontown is serious. It may prove fatal. Manager McCloskey has been depending upon Roberts, but the big fellow has been a consistent loser ever since the Cokers took his measure two Saturdays ago. O'Dell is unreliable and Sammie Fletcher shows signs of going stale. Fletcher has been badly hammered during the past few days.

Grafton, with its bunch of heavy hitters, is going to make trouble for the Uniontown. Fairmont has given the champs the worst kind of a scare, taking the same brace against them that they did against the Cokers some weeks ago. Fairmont is the team that put Connellsville out of the running at that time and they may turn the trick on Uniontown.

Grafton bunched hits off Silex in the first game and won, while they managed to sneak a run across in the second, although Yeard allowed but one hit. The scores:

Famous Admiral Sent to America by King Edward.

Sir Edward H. Seymour, admiral of the British fleet, has been designated by King Edward to command the British squadron which will attend the Boston-Luton celebration in New York. No other could have more fittingly attracted the interest that Great Britain is taking in the big event. For besides the honor his high rank will lend to the occasion, the admiral is well known in many officers of the United States Navy. He commanded the British naval brigade at the Russo-Japanese war in China. It is a rare thing for the flag of a British officer of the rank of admiral to be sent to the United States, and the visit of Admiral Seymour to America will be regarded as an event of great diplomatic importance.

RECEIVES PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Lever Slips and Cuts Hand of Uniontown Man.
ATCHESON, Pa., Aug. 31.—George Jenkins of Uniontown, who has been putting down several steel holes for the Republic Iron & Steel Company at this place, met with a very painful accident this afternoon while trying to get a new wheel on the derrick. The lever slipped and cut his hand. The cut was dressed by Charles Cooley who was helping him as well as possible under the conditions. Mr. Jenkins left for his home where the injury is causing him considerable pain.

GRAND OLD TIME PRAYER MEETING

Some Excellent Addresses Delivered at Quaint Gathering at Atcheson.

ATCHESON, Pa., Aug. 31.—A general old time cottage prayer meeting was held at the residence of Omer Roderick Friday evening. Some most excellent, interesting and instructive addresses were delivered, among them being an address by Matthew Holt. His address outlined the way that all Christians should live to expect a home and happiness in the future. The leader of the meeting was J. K. Rader, a loyal and true Christian, who handles his topic in an interesting way, being taken from the book of St. John. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Omer Huntley next Friday evening. The leaders will be Mrs. Alice Youngkin. Among those present at the meeting were the following: Miss Bula Jennings of Upper Chest Haven; Miss Valma Bates of Fairchance; Miss Bula Worman and sister, Beatrice, of Ft. Marion; Misses Jessie and Louise Conn of Grafton; Miss Alice Harvey; Mrs. Lulu Emery, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilson; Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Towell and son, Howard; Mrs. Edgar Wilson and daughter, Eleanor; Harry Youngkin, Herman Youngkin, Charles Cooley, Ned Cleaver, William Cleaver, Riley Hunter, Matthew Holt, George Phillips, Mrs. Oth Huntley, Mrs. James Dodson, Miss Lane Dodson, Mrs. Alice Youngkin, Frank Huntley, all of Atcheson; Mrs. Carrie Conn, Mrs. Hileman, J. K. Rader and A. Lang, of Grafton; J. Gribble of New Salem, Mrs. Towell of Fairchance, and Raymond Gribble of New Salem.

TO "SCUTCH" FLAX AT STAHLSTOWN REUNION

Over 4,000 Gathered to See Old-Time Work Done at Farmer Picnic.

In 1907 the people of Stahlstown held a picnic or Old Home Day at which one of the main attractions was the breaking out "scutching" of flax. In the olden time the breaking of "scutching" of flax was not the novelty that it is in these days of ruins and flying machines. All the clothes worn in those good old days were home made and the "scutching" was one of the various processes through which the flax and to go to be made into garments. An immense throng gathered together two years ago and spent a pleasant day. Now it is proposed to hold another such day and the date on which it will be held will be governed by the committees who have already been appointed to look after the interests of the coming of "Old Home Day and Scutching."

The flax has been grown by a prominent farmer and will be conditioned for the event. In the fall of 1907 over 4,000 persons attended and there were nearly 2,000 horses on the ground. It is hoped that the committees will attend to the proper advertising of this old home day and scutching and that a greater crowd than ever may gather and a more pleasant day be spent by those who gather in 1909.

Quick Action is Essential of a Good Servant. It is Characteristic of

Smith Premier Typewriter

Model No. 10.

Sensitive to the slightest touch, its carriage escapes lightning-like, within one-tenth inch of the printing point, the quickest carriage escapement ever used on a typewriter; its type bars are so quick in action as to be almost invisible in their operation. Altogether has the liveliest printing action ever employed in a typewriter. Human fingers cannot follow it to its limit.

Smith Premier New Model No. 10

Equally responsive in other features, it is the most efficient of typewriter servants.
